Privacy Policy

INCO Windows and Doors Ltd.
Last updated: November 5, 2026

About this policy

INCO Windows and Doors Ltd. ("INCO," "we," "us," or "our") respects your privacy. This policy explains how we collect, use, disclose, and protect personal information when you request a quote, submit a website or advertising lead form, contact us, or purchase our windows, doors, installation, or related services. It also explains your choices and how to contact us about your information.

We handle personal information in accordance with applicable Canadian privacy laws, including Alberta's Personal Information Protection Act, British Columbia's Personal Information Protection Act, and the federal Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act where applicable.

Information we collect

We collect information reasonably needed for the purpose identified at the time of collection. Depending on your interaction with us, this may include:

- Your name, telephone number, email address, and preferred contact method.
- Your project or service address and information about your property relevant to the work.
- Window and door quantities, measurements, product preferences, project photographs you provide, budget information you choose to share, and installation or service requirements.
- Messages, appointment details, quotes, contracts, invoices, payment status, and warranty or service records.
- Records of your consent and communication preferences.

Please do not include government identification numbers, payment card details, or other sensitive information in an advertising lead form or general enquiry form. If additional information is needed for a particular service, we will explain the purpose and appropriate way to provide it.

How we collect information

We normally collect information directly from you through our website, Facebook or Instagram lead forms, telephone calls, email, text messages, in-person appointments, and project documents. For example, when you submit a Meta lead form, we receive the information you choose to submit so that we can respond to your enquiry.

If someone provides information on your behalf, we expect that person to have your authority to do so. We may confirm that authority where appropriate.

Why we use your information

We use personal information to:

- Respond to enquiries and prepare or discuss estimates and quotes.
- Arrange consultations, measurements, deliveries, installations, and service appointments.
- Process orders, administer contracts, communicate project updates, and maintain payment and accounting records.
- Coordinate relevant work with our personnel, manufacturers, suppliers, and installers.
- Handle warranty requests, complaints, and after-sales support.
- Maintain consent records, protect our business and customers, and meet legal obligations.

- Send promotional communications when we have the consent or other legal authority required to do so.

We do not use personal information for an unrelated purpose without obtaining consent where required by law.

Consent and your choices

When you voluntarily provide contact and project information to request a quote or service, we use it to handle that request and communicate with you about it. The form or collection notice will identify the relevant purpose. We seek additional consent where required, including for uses that would not reasonably be expected from your request.

You may withdraw or change consent by contacting us, subject to legal or contractual restrictions and reasonable notice. We will explain any consequences, such as being unable to arrange an appointment without contact information. Withdrawing consent does not require us to erase records we must retain under applicable law.

Submitting a quote request does not automatically subscribe you to ongoing promotional email or text campaigns. Where we request express marketing consent, the choice is separate and optional. You may unsubscribe using the instructions in a promotional message or by contacting us. We process unsubscribe requests within the legally required timeframe. Unsubscribing from promotions does not prevent necessary communications about a requested quote, current order, installation, or warranty matter, as permitted by law.

When we disclose information

We disclose personal information only as reasonably needed for the identified purpose, with your consent where required, or as otherwise permitted or required by law. Recipients may include:

- Authorized personnel and installers who need information to carry out your project or service request.
- Manufacturers, suppliers, and delivery providers who need relevant project details to fulfil an order or warranty request.
- Service providers supporting our website, email, customer relationship management, document signing, accounting, payment processing, and advertising lead collection. These may include Meta for Facebook and Instagram lead forms and Pipedrive for customer and project management.
- Professional advisers or public authorities where reasonably necessary and legally permitted or required.

We limit the information disclosed to what is appropriate for the purpose. We do not sell customer contact lists. Service providers acting on our behalf are expected to protect information and use it only for authorized services, subject to applicable law. Platforms such as Meta also process information under their own privacy policies when you use their services.

Processing outside Canada

Some technology providers may store or process personal information outside Canada. Information processed abroad may be accessible to courts, law enforcement, or other authorities under the laws of those countries.

[Before publishing, insert the verified countries where INCO’s providers store, access, or process personal information, and the purposes of that processing. Confirm the actual website, Meta, Pipedrive, email, and other relevant account arrangements; do not assume all data stays in Canada.]

You may request information about our policies and practices concerning service providers outside Canada from our Privacy Officer using the contact details below.

Website cookies and tracking

[Before publishing, replace this paragraph with the website's verified configuration. Identify any essential cookies, analytics tools, Meta Pixel, Google tags, advertising cookies, or server-side advertising integrations actually used; explain the information collected, purposes, recipients, and available consent or preference controls. If no advertising or analytics tracking is used, state that accurately. Do not publish claims about a cookie banner or opt-out control unless it is implemented and tested.]

Submitting an enquiry and consenting to website advertising tracking are separate choices. Browser cookie settings may provide additional controls, although blocking some cookies can affect website functions. Third-party websites linked from our website have their own privacy practices.

Retention and protection

We retain personal information only for as long as reasonably necessary for the purposes for which it was collected and to meet applicable legal, accounting, contractual, warranty, and dispute-resolution requirements. Retention periods may differ between an enquiry that does not proceed and a completed installation with an ongoing warranty. When information is no longer needed, we securely destroy it or make it non-identifying, subject to applicable requirements.

We use reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards appropriate to the sensitivity of the information. Access is limited to people who need it for authorized purposes. No electronic transmission or storage system can be guaranteed completely secure. If a privacy incident occurs, we will assess it and make notifications required by applicable law.

Access correction and complaints

You may contact our Privacy Officer to request access to personal information we hold about you, ask for a correction, request information about our practices, or raise a privacy concern. We may need to verify your identity before responding. We will respond within applicable legal time limits and explain any lawful restriction or refusal. You may also ask about deletion; applicable retention obligations and legal exceptions may limit what we can delete.

If you are not satisfied with our response, you may contact the Office of the Information and Privacy Commissioner of Alberta, the Office of the Information and Privacy Commissioner for British Columbia, or the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada, as applicable.

Changes to this policy

We may update this policy to reflect changes in our practices or legal requirements. We will post the revised version with an updated date. Where a change involves a new use or disclosure requiring consent, we will obtain that consent before proceeding.

Contact us

Privacy Officer
INCO Windows and Doors Ltd.
Email: office@incowindows.ca
Phone: 403-617-3082
Mailing address: [Insert business mailing address before publishing]

Please use the subject line “Privacy Request” when emailing us about your personal information.